NATIONAL YOUTH AND STUDENT PEACE COALITION

THE PROBLEM IS PRIORITIES, NOT MONEY

Demand Books Not Bombs this November 7th!

We will have spent $370 billion on the war and occupation of Iraq. To pay for this illegal war, the Bush Administration has cut billions of dollars in federal financial aid for college students, robbed our public schools of needed funds, slashed health services for veterans and gutted job training programs for youth. By prioritizing war and profit making this Administration has put the future of our entire generation in peril.

Think for a second, what could we have done with that $370 billion? Instead of spending it on a needless war, the decision makers could have:

- ★ Hired 5.5 million additional public school teachers
- ★ Provided 15 million college students with full 4-year scholarships
- ★ Provided health insurance for 190 million young people
- ★ Paid for 42 million youth to attend head start

This fall, youth have a chance to take back our country and demand Books Not Bombs!

The National Youth and Student Peace Coalition and our allies will be in the streets, in our schools and at the voting booth demanding that our elected officials prioritize our needs over war. We invite you to join us in our campaign to turn our country around.
